

CONFEDERACION INTERNACIONAL DE

MOVIMIENTOS FAMILIARES CRISTIANOS

Misión San José

Santiago de Querétaro, Qro. México, agosto 2014

Presidents of ICCFM greet you ...

Dear friends and fellow believers in Jesus Christ, members of Christian Family Movements ICCFM, we salute you in joy of knowing ourselves of the family builders.

Today we allow to share some reflections carried based on the document "Instrumentum laboris" which seems to us of interest to everyone who have heard the call of God and strive ourselves as members of the Church to bring the Gospel of Jesus Christ families.

“Proclaiming the Gospel of the family is an integral part of the mission of the Church, as God's revelation illuminates the reality of the relationship between man and woman, their love and their relationship to fertility. At the present time, the widespread cultural, social and spiritual crisis is a challenge for the evangelization of the family, vital core of society and of the ecclesial community "(Premise)

The family, the persons and society

El The document stresses the importance of the family for a comprehensive development: the family is essential for the maturation of affective and cognitive processes that are decisive for to structure of the person. As vital environment in which the person is formed, the family is the source from which springs once the awareness of being children of God, called by vocation to love. Other places contribute to the growth of the person, as social life, the world of work, politics, church life; however, it is recognized that human foundations that are acquired in family allow access to other levels of socialization and structure.

The family deals with many daily trials and difficulties, but at the to go through them consolidates the family and coming to recognize out their vocation in God's plan, with the support of pastoral action. The family is a reality that we must "build" each day with patience, understanding and love

A Accompany the new desire for family and “Dejemos que el Espíritu Santo guíe la misión de proclamar el Evangelio del matrimonio, la familia y la Vida en el mundo” la familia y la Vida en el mundo”

CONFEDERACION INTERNACIONAL DE

MOVIMIENTOS FAMILIARES CRISTIANOS

Misión San José

A In spite of the crisis, an important fact emerging from the responses is that fairly against difficult situations, many people, especially young people perceive the value of stable and enduring bond, a real desire for marriage and family, which perform faithful and indissoluble love, gives serenity to the human and spiritual growth. "Desire of household" is revealed as a true sign of the times, to be welcomed with pastoral vocation.

It is necessary that the Church cares for families living in situations of crisis and stress; the family is accompanied during the whole life cycle. The quality of relationships within the family should be one of the crucial concerns of the Church

Responsibility of the pastors and charismatic gifts in family pastoral

In the pastoral commitment to family an interesting reciprocity between the responsibility of the pastoralists and their various charisms and ministries in the church community is observed. The more positive experiences occur precisely when this synergy occurs. Contemplating the commitment of so many brothers and sisters in the pastoral care of the family, it is possible to imagine new forms of effective presence of the Church, who has the courage to "come out" of itself animated by the Holy Spirit.

We pray for all Continental, National leaders, Diocesan and Parish Christian family movements, with great commitment and creativity continue to make greater efforts in Communion with our pastors to be more effective and respond to the diverse and varied needs of families today

"Let the Holy Spirit to guide the mission of proclaiming the gospel of marriage, family and life in the world"

Jorge and Rosalinda Carrillo
ICCFM. Presidents